Helping Wisconsin's injured workers

Expertise. Earned, shared and used to benefit those who truly need it.

Exclusively practicing workers' compensation, Domer Law represents injured workers throughout the state of Wisconsin. Striving for the solutions and benefits their clients need to carry on in the face of injury, Domer Law achieves its mission of helping injured workers each and every day.

Attorneys Tom and Charlie Domer—a father-son partnership team—practice only workers' compensation law, providing an advantage to injured workers in Wisconsin. With a dedicated staff, they diligently work to make a difference in the upended lives of their clients. Employees who suffer injuries are often in unfamiliar and frightening situations—facing disabilities, loss of jobs or health insurance, and an inability to make ends meet. Together, Tom and Charlie Domer guide injured workers through difficult times and work to obtain the maximum benefits available under the workers' compensation law.

Tom Domer, named again to Wisconsin Super Lawyers[®], has over 30 years of experience representing injured workers in Wisconsin. Tom has shared this wealth of knowledge by teaching the workers' compensation course (and the state's future lawyers) at Marquette University Law School for the last 15 years. A frequent lecturer around the state and nation, Tom's presentations and long-term advocacy for injured workers have earned him recognition in The Best Lawyers in America and election as a charter member of the American Bar Association's College of Workers' Compensation Lawyers.

Combining forces with his father Tom, Charlie Domer—named to the Rising Stars list—passionately pursues justice for his clients. He works tirelessly to provide support and counsel to injured workers confronted with uncertain times. Charlie shares his workers' compensation expertise with others by lecturing at UW-Milwaukee and writing articles on the topic (including a text Tom and Charlie are co-authoring on Wisconsin workers' compensation practice). Charlie's dedication and ongoing involvement in workers' compensation matters perfectly position him to continue the principles of Domer Law.

With its extensive knowledge of the legal rights of injured workers in Wisconsin, Domer Law serves their clients with compassion and integrity. They offer that expertise to those who need it the most. Expertise they've earned. Expertise they share.
